MUST RECEIPT FOR THE CUP.

Royal Yacht Squadron Officers to Confer on the Conditions.

New York Yacht Club Not Inclined to Make Further Concessions.

Word comes by cable that a conference of the members of the Royal Yacht Squadron will be held either to-day or to-morrow. The question the public on this side of the pond is so anxiously anxious will then be finally decided.

The promptness of Secretary Grant in calling the squadron together makes it appear that the Englishmen are anxious for a race and will finally accede to the demands of the New York Yacht Club, and give a receipt for the Cup.

The close race which the Yacht Club gave the English in 1893 and the subsequent defeat of the English in English waters by Britannia have evidently whetted the appetites of English yachtsmen. They think perhaps that they can improve enough over the Yacht Club and Britannia to finally capture the Cup. They do not allow that the Americans can improve on the English.

The deed of gift is, however, the stumbling block. Englishmen regard it as unfair and the New York Yacht Club interpreted and without the mutual agreement clause it opens the widest possible scope for the challenger and the challenged. The mutual agreement clause, so often referred to, reads as follows:

"The club challenging for the Cup, and the club holding the same, may, by mutual consent, make any arrangement satisfactory to both as to date, course, number of races, rules and sailing regulations, and any and all other conditions of the match, in which case also the time month may be waived."

Under this agreement, it is plain that if both parties agree to give them a fair chance, and still they plead that our conditions are unworkable.

"The acknowledgment of the deed of gift is insisted upon this year because the Cup Committee feels that it is about time that this question be squarely met. Should the Cup be won without a receipt having been given, it is feared that conditions would be looked on by the Englishmen until there would never be a chance for America to regain the much-loved trophy."

BRIDGE PLANS UPSET.

Hudson River Span's Cost Increased and Completion Delayed.

The decision of Secretary Lamont that the proposed bridge over the Hudson must be of suspension structure instead of cantilever, is regarded as something of a blow to the plans of the New York and New Jersey Bridge Company.

President John D. Rockefeller to express an opinion on the decision to-day. Secretary and General Manager Swan is still in Washington. His son said that the Company would construct the bridge in accordance with Secretary Lamont's restrictions, though it would take years longer to build and cost millions of dollars more.

Secretary Lamont's decision is based on the report of a Board of Expert Engineers, which held that the cantilever plan would necessitate piers in the river.

MISS POLLARD WOULD BE A MAID.

She Answered a Boston Woman's Advertisement, but Did Not Get a Reply to Her Letter.

A Boston lady a few weeks ago advertised for a French maid to take charge of her child and accompany her abroad. Among those who answered the advertisement was Miss Madeline Pollard, who achieved notoriety by suing Congressman Breckinridge, of Kentucky, for breach of promise.

Referring to the matter Miss Pollard that night said: "I can't see anything wrong in answering the advertisement. I don't know who got the letter. The advertisement was signed by initials only. In my letter I said I was not French, but that I felt myself capable of performing the duties of governess. I thought the lady was an opportunity for my doing something, but I never received a reply. I have answered a number of advertisements in the hope of securing employment, but every one has been a failure."

When asked regarding her plans for the future, Miss Pollard replied: "A future in my position can have no plan. I have no intentions. I would like very much to go to Leipzig and perfect myself in chemistry. I understand chemistry very well, but lack practical schooling."

"Will you remain in New York for some time?" she asked.

"I shall be compelled to stay here, as I have no money to go anywhere. My little job office on East Twenty-third street, Miss Pollard, who has been my stanch friend through all my trouble, gets some sewing to do, and we succeed in getting along. I may make New York my permanent home. My brother hopes to be in a position to get a little bit where we can keep house together."

Miss Pollard said she had tried to enter journalism, but her efforts in that direction in New York had been fruitless.

MORTON'S SERVANTS TO BE COZY.

The Governor-Elect Is Going to Have a $15,000 Addition to the Executive Mansion at Albany.

(Special to The World.) ALBANY, Dec. 13.—After inspecting the Executive Mansion yesterday, Governor Morton informed Supt. Perry that the appointments were inadequate for his family and fifteen servants. Supt. Perry told Mr. Morton that an addition to the place, to be used as servants' quarters, could be constructed for about $15,000. The work will be done at Mr. Morton's request, and it is expected that among the first measures passed by the incoming Legislature will be an appropriation sufficient to cover the expense of enlarging the Mansion.

The question that presents itself is: In case New York should ever elect a plain man, such as Hill, what will be the result? The answer is: The man who would be elected would be a bachelor of the name of Robert Ayer. Then she took a fancy to William M. Wisdom, of Portland, Ore. Then she met Mulvaney, and compelled him to break with the young woman he was about to marry.

Mulvaney said he has property of his to the value of $125,000, and now he wants it back.

REACTION FOLLOWS A RISE.

Sugar Scored the Biggest Advance in Early Trading.

The stock market opened firm, and prices advanced 1-8 to 3-4 per cent. the latter in Sugar, but the rise soon induced realizations and a general reaction followed upon comparatively light offerings.

RUIN IN HER TRAIN.

Mrs. Mulvaney's Said to Have Sacrificed Money to Ambition.

The story of how Mrs. Sadie Mulvaney and Nurse C. G. Valentine, attempted to poison her husband, Thomas F. Mulvaney, while they were in Salt Lake City, grows more interesting every day. The romance of the woman's life shows how a woman's ambition can lead to ruin. Mrs. Mulvaney, born Wells, came of Philadelphia parents, and at the age of seventeen was married to a man in that city named Reagan. After a year she learned he had another wife living. Then she left him.

Since then she has been in many episodes, the majority of which panned out financially well. From Reagan she went to a furniture dealer of the name of Robert Ayer. Then she took a fancy to William M. Wisdom, of Portland, Ore. Then she met Mulvaney, and compelled him to break with the young woman he was about to marry.

Mulvaney said he has property of his to the value of $125,000, and now he wants it back.

THE ROBBERS RODE OFF.

They Made a Mistake and Stopped a Freight Train.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 4.—A special to The Republic from Marland, a small town on the Northwestern extension in the wild prairie region of Dawes County, gives meagre particulars of an attempt to rob a freight train eight miles north from that point at an early hour yesterday morning. The engineer noticed red lights on the tracks and stopped the train. At that moment the light was extinguished and a party of mounted men were heard riding whizzing away.

The passenger train occasionally carries large amounts of gold from the Black Hills region.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

John A. Morris, owner of the New York Jockey Club's race track, was interviewed in New Orleans yesterday. He said that he had instructed Secretary Critchmore to declare all the Morris Park stakes off. This settles the question of racing at this track next season, and it is a pity, for since the closing of Monmouth Park, the Westchester track has been the most magnificent course in operation in this country.

"I have all along contended," said Mr. Morris, "that the present condition in New York State, the running of a stake, or purse, in which entrance money is charged, is a misdemeanor, because a sweepstake, or stake, is a bet as much as making a wager with a bookmaker."
